Thank you for enquiring!

Hi, my name is Adam Hewett, and I am the Principal Photographer for Redberry Photography - a Kent based wedding photography service.

Firstly, thank you for enquiring about our photography services. We recognise our role on your wedding day is not just as your photographer but also as family historians.

It is our job to know you both as a couple, what makes your special day unique and then bring your story to life through the photographs we take.

As photographers, we are constantly developing our style. However, we are always excited to hear from clients about their ideas and then work together to turn those ideas into reality.

This always creates photographs that everyone loves!

Every couple's big day is unique, so it is important that your wedding day is full of your personality, what you love, who you love and who you are. Your wedding should leave a huge mark on your life, and we are here to ensure that you see that in every memory I

“Try before you buy” Engagement Shoot

Book yourself in for a “Try before you buy” engagement shoot

Looking at our photographs of other people is one thing, but to see yourself in our photographs will be the only way to truly know if we are the right photography service for you.

Let's meet up for an hour and take some snaps; it will give us a chance to meet properly, and give you a chance to get comfortable in front of the camera.

We know that engagement shoots can cost around £400 upwards, but we will meet up with you for an hour or two in an open space, like a park, a beach or in the countryside and take some photos while we chat about your big day. Then a few days later, we will send you the images to show you the style and type of photos you will get when booking me as the photographer for your wedding.

There is absolutely no charge for this – We do not take a deposit or ask you to sign anything, this really is a free

We know that many of our couples will have two main concerns:

We are not models and worry that we will feel awkward and uncomfortable in front of the camera.

We really don't want to have someone there on our special day poking a camera in peoples faces and making all our guests feel watched.

Let us put you at ease and reassure you that the most common feedback we get from our couples is that they felt relaxed around us and how much all their guests warmed to us.

Ensuring that you and your guests are comfortable is our main priority on the day. When you and all your guests are completely at ease, we can capture the best images; those magic, special memories of you all.

We are often asked how we would describe our photography style and we would say that it is modern, fresh with vibrant, natural colours that "pop", with the occasional sprinkle of some black and white images. This style lends itself to timeless pieces which don't come and go into and out of fashion like some of the "filter looks" around. Ask yourself – "Will I still be proud to look back on these images in 10, 15 or 20 years time, or will they be out of fashion?".

We pride ourselves on our timeless art which tells the story of your day

Full Day Coverage

This covers full wedding day coverage from bridal preparation right through to the first dance and everything in between. Technically you are booking me for 10 hours but if it runs on a little later than expected, it's not a problem. This package includes;

Bridal preparation
Full Ceremony
Family/Group Photos
Bride & Groom Creative Images
Reception; Toasts/Speeches
Cake Cutting
First Dance
and the fun party images

Of course we also capture those candid special moments throughout the day.

Booking

A booking fee of £300 and a signed contract secures the date for your wedding. Unfortunately, we are unable to hold any wedding dates until the moment the deposit has been paid.

Post Engagement Session:

"We love the photos, you've done an amazing job and we would love to have you as our photographer for our wedding! We are overwhelmed with the photos"

After the wedding:

"We can't wait to see them!!! They look amazing - we couldn't ask for better photos!"

Jade and Lydia

"We love genuine fun photos, capturing the emotion, the joy and the love"
